

MELISSA HAGUE FIELD STUDY AWARD
OPEN TO ALL ANTHROPOLOGY UNDERGRADUATE AND GRADUATE STUDENTS

The application deadline is 5:00 p.m. on the second Friday in February.

The Department of Anthropology offers an annual award to anthropology students (graduate or undergraduate) for off-campus fieldwork. The Melissa Hague Field Study Award was established in 1999 to honor the memory of the late Melissa Hague, a student majoring in anthropology who, at the time of her death, was anticipating her first fieldwork. Her family hopes the Melissa Hague Field Study Award will help generations of UGA students reach their goals by directly supporting field research or supplementing existing field research funds. Undergraduate and graduate applications will be evaluated separately.

Eligibility Criteria

The student must be a graduate or undergraduate anthropology student in good standing at UGA.

Proposal Format

Adherence to the following proposal format is mandatory. Those applications not following the format will not be considered for review. Please note the limits on length for each section.

Page 1

- Application Cover Sheet
- Online at http://anthropology.uga.edu/forms/award_cover.pdf
- Title of proposal

Page 2

- One-paragraph summary of the research objectives and fieldwork
- Discussion of methods, procedures, and expected results
- Brief literature review

Page 3

- Budget. Please give details of costs for supplies, transportation, lodging, and other expenses directly related to the field project.
- Expected schedule for completion of the fieldwork and the overall project

Page 4

- Unofficial transcript. (You may e-mail either Margie Floyd (mjfloyd@uga.edu) or Lisa Norris (lnorris@uga.edu) to obtain a copy of your transcript. Please allow at least 24 hours between the time you send your request and the time you come to the office to collect your document.)

The proposal should be 12 point, double-spaced, with one-inch margins. No electronic submissions will be accepted.

Submit a signed original to Deb Chasteen by 5:00 p.m. on the second Friday in February. Proposals will be reviewed by the departmental awards committee and the award recipients will be notified by the end of March. Awards will be made based on the proposal quality, academic performance, and professional promise. The departmental awards committee reserves the right to alter the dollar amount awarded.